

Will Walk for Art

Written by Jenny Kerr

Monday, 19 December 2011 11:14 - Last Updated Tuesday, 21 February 2012 11:52

---

Cincinnati's pulse is its fantastic arts scene, whether traditional and refined or underground and trendy.

Will Walk for Art

Written by Jenny Kerr

Monday, 19 December 2011 11:14 - Last Updated Tuesday, 21 February 2012 11:52

---

No one residing in or visiting this great city should miss out on the Final Friday Art Walk. It's a free event held on (you guessed it!) the final Friday of every month, organized to encourage visits to the Pendleton Art Gallery or the small, myriad and ever-changing galleries and shops dotting Main Street.

My sister Jenny and I kicked off our weekend with happy hour at Japp's on Main Street. Revived and re-envisioned by local celebrity mixologist Molly Wellman, this speak-easy serves craft beers and cocktails from the 1700's to the 1950's which showcase Molly's homemade juices and extracts. Not only will you be served a unique drink, you may just get a history lesson along the way. We wish they taught this back when we were in school!

As a nod to the crisp fall weather, the bar was anchored by a giant vat of delicious mulled wine. After being served some cups of the piping hot autumn brew, we were joined by our friend Kenneth, a gallery curator, my husband Nick, Jenny's boyfriend Joe, and our friend Andrew. We grabbed a cozy table to enjoy our drinks, and then we asked Molly to shake up some of her specialties, like 'Molly's Cresta' and 'The Bronx'. Energized by our delicious drinks, we were ready to hit the pavement.

Will Walk for Art

Written by Jenny Kerr

Monday, 19 December 2011 11:14 - Last Updated Tuesday, 21 February 2012 11:52

---

Will Walk for Art

Written by Jenny Kerr

Monday, 19 December 2011 11:14 - Last Updated Tuesday, 21 February 2012 11:52

---

Will Walk for Art

Written by Jenny Kerr

Monday, 19 December 2011 11:14 - Last Updated Tuesday, 21 February 2012 11:52

---

© Jenny Kerr, 2011. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without the prior written permission of the author.